Fun in the sun

Spiking, serving and straining for the ball, a group of local women battled the heat last Saturday during a beach volleyball tournament at Elmer Johnson Park. The event also included men's playoffs. All of the games were provided through the Romulus Recreation Department. Among the players were Chris Coleman (above) of Ypsilanti and Jennifer Daniel (right) of Romulus. Proposed purchases concern city officials

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Although the proposed expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport is perceived as good news by Romulus city officials, resulting land acquisition by the airport has become a source of concern.

Airport officials have recently completed a revised master plan for the facility which includes numerous expansion plans—a south access road, a second cross-wind runway, fourth parallel runway, a runway extension and a south terminal.

However, extensive land acquisition is required to make some of these projects a reality. The construction of the fourth parallel runway will require the purchase of approximately 554 acres of land, including 22 residences and 27 businesses. Affected would be a section of Goddard near I-94 and Wayne between Northline and Eureka roads.

In addition, the proposed south airport access road interchange at Eureka Road will require the acquisition of approximately 50 acres of land from five property owners. Most of this industrially-zoned land is vacant, but one residence would be purchased.

These plans have been a constant source of discussion between Mayor Beverly McAnally, Community Development Director Dennis Oakes and county officials.

"On the whole, the county has been pretty cooperative with the city," Oakes said.

He and the mayor support the airport expansion because of the long-term economic benefits it would create for the city, he explained. They are also in favor of the reduction in noise impact promised by county officials as a result of the revised master plan.

Nevertheless, the land acquisition would be a blow to the city, Oakes said. Between 10 to 15 percent of the city tax base would be eliminated.

"Somehow that has to be made up," Oakes said.

During a public hearing Aug. 8 regarding airport expansion, Oakes planned to present the city position.

Options for making up the tax base include relocating businesses within Romulus or creating new investments.

However, Oakes explained, the proposed projects and land acquisitions are not likely to be initiated right away. County officials have admitted the runway project may not begin for 10 years.

"It's a huge project, and they don't have finances in place," he said.

Airport expansions are expected to cost $1 billion.

Oakes said he has encouraged most of the business owners in the affected area to remain where they are and proceed with any expansion plans.

Monday night, developer Edward Schulak received a site plan approval for the second phase of the Metro World Center. The buildings will be directly in the path of the planned airport acquisition, Oakes said.

As for residents affected by the expansion, county and city officials expected a large turnout at the public hearing as residents seek answers to questions and more information about the possible purchase of property.

Local development project nearing phase number 2

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

With the first phase of local development at Metro Airport Center nearly completed, developers received approval from city council members Monday night to move forward with the second phase of the project.

In addition to site plan approval, a special use permit was granted for the development, and amendments were made to the first phase plans.

The Metro Airport Center will consist of a series of buildings available for office space, warehouse use, air freight and light manufacturing bordered by Wayne and Goddard roads. The price tag for this development is estimated at $1.5 to 3 million.

Eventually, the completed development is expected to cover 464,000 square feet. Developers are promoting the idea of flex or multi-use buildings based on customer demand. They also hope to provide a free-trade zone where tenants could ship in and store items from foreign countries with little or no customs charges.

Special land approval for "Phase One" of this project was granted by city officials in September of 1988. Now construction is nearly complete in that area which covers approximately 65,000 square feet. One tenant, a sporting goods supplier, occupies an office facility. Negotiations are in the works with additional potential tenants. Building uses may range from a training site for employees of Ford Motor Company to an office for the Michigan State Police.

"As we've progressed with this project we've met with a great deal of success," said developer Edward Schulak, an architect.

Affected by amendments to the first phase is an access road for the site that will run from Wayne to Goddard. It has been shifted to the east somewhat, away from city hall. Three buildings designed for office use will be constructed on the original road site.

For the second phase of development, most of the buildings are planned for light manufacturing and warehouse use, Schulak said.

During his presentation to city council members, Schulak emphasized plans for landscaping the development area including a water fountain, retention pond and a one-mile jogging path.

"It's a very sensitive landscaping plan," he said.

Council members expressed support for the development.

Schulak intends to begin work on all site improvements and infrastructures needed for the second phase immediately. Actual building construction will be completed according to customer demand, he said.

1 dies in automobile accident

The crash of a loaded semi truck and an automobile last Wednesday left one man dead and a woman in critical condition.

The crash occurred at 8:40 a.m., Aug. 2 at the intersection of Middlebelt and Wick roads. A 43-year-old woman driving a 1976 Oldsmobile northbound on Middlebelt apparently drove through a red traffic signal at Wick Road, according to police reports of the incident.

The Oldsmobile was struck on the passenger side by a fully loaded semi truck. Both the driver and the 39-year-old male passenger were thrown from the car on impact, police said.

City council president steps down

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Mary Ann Banks will say farewell to a 12-year career in city government this November when she retires from the Romulus City Council.

When the filing deadline for candidacy arrived several weeks ago, Banks, city council president, did not turn in a petition. During a recent telephone interview, Banks explained she has enjoyed her work with the city but wants to make time for other things now.

"I wanted to spend more time with my family, to travel," she said.

The recent deaths of Banks' husband and father have not affected her feelings on retirement, she said.

Looking back on her political career, Banks can list numerous accomplishments. During the entire 12-year period, Banks served as mayor pro tem and directed council meetings.

Her major source of pride, she said, is a steady flow of progress she has seen within the city.

Banks was largely responsible for the establishment of the Romulus Police Force in 1980. Previously, the city relied on the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for police services.

In addition, Banks helped form a committee to study the possibility of establishing cable television in Romulus. She worked with several groups concerned with downtown development, and she has helped with Student Government Day on a regular basis.

Among the areas in which Banks showed her support are senior citizen housing, Neighborhood Watch programs, increased patrol of local parks, the Wick Road development projects, projects of the Romulus Historical Commission and the hiring of more ordinance officers for the community.

ordinance officers for the community.

Banks does plan to remain active within the community. Nothing will quite compare, however, to her time on city council, Banks said.

"My experience in public service was one of the most encompassing and fulfilling things I've ever done," she remarked.

Banks' efforts with the city have also made a strong impression on her colleagues.

"It has been a great pleasure to work with her," said Mayor Beverly McAnally. "We'll miss her a lot. She is very fair, very patient, kind and concerned."

"Over the many years we've worked together, I've found her to be fair, hardworking and concerned about the community as a whole," said Councilman Jimmie Raspberry.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Safe robbery is reported

A break-in at a business located in the 6600 block of Metroplex was reported to Romulus police Aug. 1.

Apparently, the culprit entered by forcing open the front entrance, according to police reports, and a safe was taken from the building.

Later that night, the safe was discovered in a ditch in Brownstown Township. The culprit had been unable to open it, police officials said.

Flying object strikes car

Police officials have not determined what the large object was that reportedly struck the car of a Wayne resident driving through Romulus Aug. 2.

The woman reported she was driving on northbound Wayne near Beverly when the object, possibly a large rock, struck the front, driver's side door. She immediately stopped the vehicle at the side of the road, but was unable to see where the object may have come from or where it landed.

Damages from the dent on the woman's car total $250.

Burgler strikes vacationing family

After returning from a 10-day vacation, a Romulus family reported a breaking and entering at their home on the 16000 block of Dodge.

The kitchen window of the home had been smashed. Missing is a VCR, cash and jewelry. The losses totaled $700.

Local group stages fundraiser

Members of the Romulus Right to Life organization will stage a yard sale Aug. 17 through 19 at 30214 Dorset, in the Oakbrook subdivision.

Those interested in donating items for the sale may call 942-9519 or 941-4602.

Election workers receive raise

In order to curb increasing numbers of resigning election workers, city council members approved a wage increase Monday night for those assisting with the fall city election.

Election inspectors will receive $65 instead of $55 for election day. Chairmen will be paid $90 instead of $25. Funds for payment will come from a contractual services account.

Linda Choate, city clerk, proposed the increase to council members.

"With each election it becomes more difficult to staff the precincts. When the economy is good few people are willing to work a 16-hour day for less than minimum wage," she said.

Man is robbed at gunpoint

While approaching his van in a local hotel parking lot Aug. 1, a 24-year-old Grand Rapids man was robbed at gunpoint, Romulus police officials said.

The culprit demanded the man's wallet and a portable cassette player from the van. Losses totaled $400.

Police describe the gunman as a white male, 6 feet tall, 170 pounds, approximately 30 years old with medium, light blond hair.

Airport parking changes

Two temporary gravel parking lots have been put to use at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport to compensate for the loss of nearly 2,000 spaces in the parking deck.

Two levels of the main deck were closed in early July for examination and rehabilitation.

The new Red Lot is located at the corner of Lucas Drive and East Service Drive and contains more than 1,400 spaces. The Orange Lot is on East Service Drive between the Northwest and Delta hangers and will offer 1,200 spaces.

Revamped district policies are approved

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Following approval by the members of the Romulus Board of Education, several new policies have become effective within the school district.

The revamped policies include community relations, public access to student records, gifts to schools or the school district, unauthorized persons on school property and school activity councils.

Numerous alterations have been made to the student code of conduct and policies regarding building use, according to Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of Romulus schools. The revised code of conduct addresses weapons, drugs and alcohol brought into school, Bedell explained. "We set up a very elaborate appeals process," he said.

Policy, unlike administrative procedure, is more comparable to a set of guidelines than hard and fast rules.

In most cases, Bedell continued, students caught with any of the prohibited items or substances will undergo a hearing process within 10 days and will probably be expelled from school.

Most of the policies concerning buildings regard user fees and schedules. Many of the district buildings are used by the recreation department and local organizations after hours. School-related activities will now receive top priority for use.

A group of board of education members and residents make up the policy committee which is responsible for these revisions. The committee has been in operation approximately five years.

"It was a tremendous job," Bedell remarked.

Committee members are responsible for obtaining policy information from other districts to compare to that used in Romulus. In other cases, the members must create policy in emergency situations such as a discipline problem or student injury.

Policy, unlike administrative procedure, is more comparable to a set of guidelines than hard and fast rules, Bedell said.

"They're not fixed in stone," he remarked.

The policies are most useful when district officials are faced with new or complicated situations. They set the tone or philosophy to act upon, the superintendent explained.

The creation and revision of policies, however, are ongoing.

Currently under review is the district policy regarding attendance. Previously, secondary schools have received the most attention in this area, Bedell said. Now, that emphasis may shift to include elementary schools. Officials are considering a reward system for good attendance. For instance, students in the school with the most improvement would receive recognition for their attendance, Bedell concluded.

Birthday picnic

Several Romulus residents joined others from the area Sunday to help Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) celebrate his 65th birthday. Ford staged his annual birthday celebration in Van Buren Park, in Van Buren Township. Fatal accident is mourned

Although the life of a 21-year-old Romulus man ended this weekend, his friends have pledged to keep his memory alive.

Signs and spray-painted messages from his friends mark the Haggerty Road curve where David Wade Francis lost control of his car and struck a tree at 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

"David, you'll never be forgotten," "I'll miss you," "We will meet again," "Friends forever," and "David, you were one of a million. We will all miss you. Memories will never go away" were painted on the road by the young man's friends.

Perhaps, most poignant was the sign posted on the tree, "This was my best friend. Don't drink and drive."

Van Buren Township police officers said the accident victim was driving southbound on Haggerty Road, south of Riggs Road, when he lost control of his vehicle on a curve, struck a tree and was thrown from the car.

He was transported to Annapolis Hospital, Wayne, by Huron Valley Ambulance and then transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital,

Ann Arbor, where he was pronounced dead at 8:30 a.m.

Van Buren Township officers, Cpl. Fred Yono and Greg Laurain, are investigating the accident. They said witnesses reported that Mr. Francis had been drinking prior to the accident. They also told police officers that he apparently had been driving at a high rate of speed in the area which has a 30 m.p.h. warning posted.

Services were conducted yesterday (Aug. 9) at the David C. Brown Funeral Home, Belleville. Interment followed at Michigan Memorial Park.

Proudly displaying the dining room of his restaurant, Jordan Spasovski claims the new Romulus business will be ready to open in two weeks. Jordan's II Family Dining on Merriman will specialize in barbecued ribs, fish and chicken. It will also feature a bar. Spasovski also owns a Coney Island restaurant in Wayne. A dream will come true in Romulus within the next two weeks.

Jordan Spasovski is waiting for approval of a liquor license which will be the final step in his life-long dream of owning his own family restaurant.

Spasovski studied culinary arts in Yugoslavia where he was born. It was there he operated his first restaurant. When his family moved to the United States in 1975, he joined them. Shortly after, he opened a Coney Island in Detroit.

Now, Spasovski will be the owner of two restaurants. In addition to Jordan's II Family Dining on Merriman Road, he operates a Coney Island in Wayne.

The building his new venture will occupy was once the site of a nightclub. Spasovski redecorated in bright colors with numerous windows and mirrors. Specialties will include barbecued ribs, seafood, chicken and steaks. In addition, the restaurant will feature a bar.

Once business is under way, Spasovski plans to have a staff of 20 to 25 people including his wife, daughter and sister.

"It's a family business," he said.

Nearly four years after the establishment of the Mayor's Task Force on Substance Abuse, local drug education programs are going strong.

Currently, the task force is concentrating on two major projects, annual summer youth activities and a mobile program which will travel throughout the community.

Summer activities are provided in conjunction with the Romulus Department of Recreation. Although they are meant to be fun, the activities carry an important message.

"They concentrate on self-awareness and self-importance," said Mayor Beverly McAnally.

This is the third year for the summer program, which is funded through donations and fundraisers. The annual golf outing staged by the Romulus Police Command Association is a major source of funding.

Still in the works is a mobile unit. Officials plan to put it in action before the summer is over.

"It is hoped to reach youngsters that are not involved in organized playground activities," McAnally said.

Romulus police officers will travel through designated neighborhoods in a van to talk to children about the dangers of drugs. Special presentations and video shows may be provided.

During the August meeting of the task force Aug. 8, a progress report on these programs was expected.

The passenger was taken to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and was later transferred to the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor where he was pronounced dead.

The woman was also taken to an area hospital where she remains in critical condition.

Police officials would not release the name or location of the driver. According to officials, she could be charged with manslaughter with a motor vehicle or negligent homicide.

The case was before the county prosecutor's office Friday morning.

Expansion explanation

Airport director discusses expansion plans at Metro

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport and other related issues were discussed July 27 at a meeting of airport and Wayne County officials.

Richard Jamison, director of airports, presented plans for Detroit Metropolitan Airport to members of the Wayne County Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services.

A $1 billion-expansion plan for the airport was the primary area of discussion. Proposed projects include a second crosswind runway, a fourth parallel runway and land acquisition, a runway extension, a south access road, a south terminal, improvements to existing terminals and improved airport support facilities.

The proposed runway development is expected to save more than $85 million a year in operating costs, according to Jamison. It is also hoped to reduce noise impact for residents living northwest of the airport. Approximately 554 acres of land north and south of the existing fourth parallel runway would be purchased. This would cover land near Eureka and I-275 along with a section near I-94 between Wayne and Merriman roads.

Another project requiring land acquisition is the south access road. Fifty acres of land near Eureka Road would be purchased, Jamison said.

The meeting also included a summary of the proposed master plan for the airport which would consider air quality, water quality, wetlands, energy and natural resources, solid waste and surface transportation, Jamison said.

In addition, Jamison announced the completion of a noise-compatibility study and a draft environmental-impact study.

The noise-compatibility plan was initiated in 1986 to identify a program for reducing aircraft-noise impact on surrounding residential and commercial/industrial development. If the plan is put into effect by the airport and surrounding communities, along with the updated master plan, the population affected by airport noise would drop from 19,530 to 16,800 by 1992, airport officials claim.

A portion of the plan involves the purchase of 770 homes which are impacted most by airport noise, Jamison said. The airport would offer purchase insurance to those who wish to remain in their homes.

A more detailed report on development plans and related studies will be provided by county and airport officials from 3 to 11 p.m., Aug. 9 during a public hearing at the Ramada Inn Hotel, 8270 Wickham.

Goals: Local state lawmakers have sights set on fall session

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

When local lawmakers return to Lansing for the 1990 session — which begins in October — they will be armed with personal priorities they hope others will support.

Legislators from western Wayne County said last week that they will pursue what they perceive are the needs of the state in the next year.

State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) said he will pursue privatization of jails, rating requirements on rental movies and an "estate recovery" bill for Medicaid recipients who die in nursing homes.

The jail-privatization bill would allow counties and cities to contract with private firms for the construction and operation of jails. Privatization of jails, according to Geake, will cut costs and allow jails to be built more quickly by county and city officials.

Geake also believes the proposal would broaden community tax base, because private jails would become part of the tax rolls.

The lawmaker refuted criticism from law-enforcement officials who contend that private jails would be operated by unqualified people. Geake said his bill would require that "jail keepers" have at least the same qualifications of those currently managing publicly owned prisons.

"Sheriffs' deputies have made (the unqualified people) charge because they don't want to give up their monopolies on jails," Geake said.

The estate-recovery bill proposed by Geake would allow the state to recover the estates of Medicaid recipients who die in nursing homes and who have no heirs.

Geake expects the idea to be controversial but said it will help fund the costs of Medicaid, by producing up to $20 million per year for the state treasury.

"The taxpayers should not have to pay for the treatment of someone and then have their assets go to someone else," Geake said.

Geake also will consider running for Congress in 1990 if U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) does not seek re-election. He will run for re-election in the state Senate if Pursell seeks another congressional term, he said.

Legislative priorities from other local lawmakers include the following:

■ State Sen. George Hart (D-Dearborn) said he will pursue two bills that relate to law enforcement. One would ban the possession of "beepers" for anyone younger than 21 years old.

Beepers — which are used to alert someone that they are being sought by another person — are reportedly used by young drug dealers.

"I think this is a good (bill)," Hart said. "All law-enforcement agencies need as many tools as they can get, and this is just one more tool," Hart said.

Another Hart-sponsored bill would provide funds for minor survivors of police officers and firefighters who are killed in the line of duty. Hart said the bill would provide state money for such survivors. He does not expect that a large amount of money would be taken from the state coffers to fund the idea, because the number of people affected would be minimal.

"There aren't that many survivors," Hart said.

■ State Rep. Justine Barns (D-Westland) said she will concentrate on education issues and the problems associated with Alzheimer's Disease during the 1989-90 legislative year.

Barns is pushing for construction of an Alzheimer's center in Wayne County — possibly in Westland — within the next 15 months. She is particularly concerned about Dementia Alzheimer's, which is commonly referred to as senility and can be caused by diabetes.

Local hospitals, she said, do not have the proper facilities to treat Dementia patients.

"Many of them are strong, healthy people, and they wander and they get lost," Barns said.

As for education, Barns will work to inform her constituents about the two school-financing proposals that will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

The proposals include a 1/2 cent sales-tax increase to go to education and a 2 cent sales-tax increase that would be coupled with a property-tax cut. The balance would go to education.

If both are approved, the one which nets the most votes will become law. If both receive more "no" votes than "yes" votes, school-finance reform will be again in the hands of the state lawmakers.

Barns said she will support one of the proposals but has not yet chosen one. Barns also defended criticism state lawmakers have received for placing two competing proposals before the voters.

"It was better to give (voters) an option than nothing, and that's what it was coming to," Barns said.

Local superhero

Capt. Wayne is newest county crime-fighter

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Taking a bold stance against crime, poor living conditions and sloppy economic development, a new superhero has arrived in Wayne County.

Call him Capt. Wayne. Capt. Wayne made his debut at the Wayne County Air Show July 29 and 30. He is planning several other appearances before his "mission" is accomplished.

The identity of this masked hero must remain a secret, according to Bob Wisler, an employee in the Wayne County Department of Jobs and Economic Development. Wisler said he is a close friend of Capt. Wayne.

"He's an all-around good guy who's interested in promoting the county," Wisler said.

Capt. Wayne donned his mask and tights several weeks ago, when several members of the county department of economic development and jobs decided he was needed.

Downriver industrialist Heinz Prechter, owner of the ASC Corp., donated a $1 million prototype car to Capt. Wayne's cause. With a "W" painted on, the car became the "Wayne-mobile."

"It's kind of a different approach to projecting a good image of Wayne County," Wisler explained. "It's not only a good place to live and work. It's fun, too."

In order to create a memorable first impression, Capt. Wayne—actually a stunt double —parachuted from a helicopter during the county air show. The captain then mingled with the crowd and signed autographs.

After his appearance, a sample Capt. Wayne comic strip was distributed at the show. In addition, offers of Capt. Wayne shirts and hats were made. Children were invited to join the Captain Wayne Commando Club.

"Capt. Wayne's commandos are pledged to do everything possible to make Wayne County a safe, hospitable and pleasant community for residents and businesses," the membership card states.

Now, the captain is scheduled for several appearances throughout the county. He was expected to appear at the Wayne County Employee Picnic, in Hines Park, Saturday to introduce himself and pose for pictures.

In addition to promoting the county, county officials hope Capt. Wayne will become a positive role model for young people.

"He has pledged to do all the virtuous things heroes do," Wisler said. "He is a kinder, gentler hero than Batman. He doesn't drop people in vats of acid."

County officials hope to keep the true identity of Capt. Wayne a mystery. Wisler refused to reveal whether the captain's alter-ego is a county employee.

Greek festival is planned

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

Opa!

The annual Greek festival sponsored by members of the Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church is scheduled Aug. 18 through 20 at the Hellenic Cultural Center, on Joy Road, in Westland.

The annual festival is designed to be a true cultural experience, organizers say. Tasty treats and music from the magical island of Greece will be plentiful.

Thrown into the cultural event will be live concerts by The Ink Spots. The classic performers will entertain at 6 and 8 p.m. Saturday and at 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday on the festival grounds. The performances are free of charge.

Parishioners at Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church work throughout the year to plan the annual festival. They will work throughout the weekend, to ensure that all visitors are offered a good time, according to Liz Andrews, one of the organizers.

In addition to The Ink Spots, entertainment will be provided by the jazz-pop group, Rare Blend, and the Rhodians.

The same Greek cuisine enjoyed in Greektown will be available closer to home throughout the festival weekend, Andrews said.

Katrina Hinaris, Panagiotas Collias and Theano Madias will be preparing Baklava. Also available will be spinach pie, souvlaki, appetizers, pastries and vegetable dishes.

The festival has been staged for the past three years. Each year, it has proven to be a successful fundraiser for the church, Andrews said.

Mobile home tax is only a burden

We have just heard from our mobile-home owners' association that a $30 increase in monthly tax is about to be levied on us in Canton by our (state) elected officials. Why such a large tax upon us and without the knowledge of the general public?

Aren't we supposed to be allowed to vote on more tax or millage. This is above the $25 month raise in lot rent once again.

Carl Simpson
Canton Township

Closed primaries are unconstitutional

Last November, at the voting polls, each voter was issued a card to be completed and returned on or before Feb. 17, 1992, or he would be ineligible to vote in the presidential primary.

Since when does anyone have the right to withhold from anyone for any concocted reason the right to vote? Isn't that guaranteed in the constitution regardless of party preferences, if any?

Where is the ACLU? Why are they not protesting this obvious infringement on constitutional rights?

City softball strikes out

As a concerned parent, I feel compelled to air what I feel has become a serious problem in our community. The girls' softball program has continually declined in the five years that my daughter has participated.

Fewer girls than ever signed up to play this year, and the recreation department cannot seem to understand why. I have heard various explanations - less girls of eligible age, other activities and that girls have other jobs.

Please allow me to add a few more explanations.

A recreation department that permits a program to lapse into such disarray that their only solution is to merge league play with a city 15 miles away a matter of weeks before the season to begin.

Staging an all-star game against another city, a highlight of the season in most programs, but neglecting to chalk, drag or groom the field, have no public-address system or any representatives from the softball program present, except the field supervisor.

I have seriously considered taking my daughters elsewhere.

Wayne is a great city and, with a renewed commitment from the recreation department, a first-rate softball program can be administered for all the girls of the community.

City lawn needs a good mowing

How do you get the city to cut their own weeds on their own property?

After four phone calls to the city, no response. After a call to the mayor's office, no response.

After a letter to our honorable mayor, no response.

The sub of Green Manor - John Hix and Cherry Hill - has our yard and three others facing our lovely city's weeds all spring and summer. Not once have they been cut.

Maybe this letter, signed by concerned citizens, will attract someone's eye at city hall.

Tree trimming is a butchering job

On June 28, tree trimmers from Detroit Edison came to our Clinton Street home, in Wayne, to "trim" the big maple tree in our back yard. We talked to the men regarding our concerns about being left some shade.

They assured us that the way the tree would look when they were finished that day would be the extent of the trimming. We told them further that we were leaving on vacation and did not want anything done in our absence.

When they finished that Monday the tree look fine. Definitely thinned around the wires but otherwise OK.

On July 23, we returned from vacation and found our once-beautiful tree almost totally mutilated! A few pitiful branches were all that remained.

We certainly hope other people in this area and any surrounding areas can be helped by our tragedy. If Edison wants to "trim" your trees, request that they tell you up front just how bad it may look.

CRUISE DOWN THE NILE

What better way to float into antiquity than on a deluxe Nile cruise ship? Major hotel operators like Hilton International and Sheraton now manage luxury ship cruises ranging from four to sixteen days.

Among offerings are cruises on Hilton's "Isis" and "Osiris", 270 foot vessels with 48 plush staterooms that ply the Nile between Aswan and Luxor, with stops at Esna, Edfu and KomOmbo.

Cruise highlights include visits to the Temple of Horus, the tomb of King Tut himself and the extraordinary Temple of Karnak. Professional Egyptologists and archeologists are aboard to lecture, point out historic monuments from the boat and conduct shore excursions.

These ships are floating hotels equipped with swimming pool, sun deck, air-conditioning, observation lounge and hairdressers. Rooms have showers, radios and telephone.

Nile cruises are very popular and reservations should be made well in advance. Cruises are also offered as part of two-week escorted tours.

We have one cabin remaining on our tour departing February 24, 1990. Call for details.

LOCAL NEWS DIGEST

Teddy bears begin duty

Teddy bears were added to the ranks of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Aug. 1, in an effort to comfort children traumatized by drug raids.

"Our officers come across many young kids when they enter a home. Many of them are toddlers who are scared and confused by the noisy disruption. These friendly faces will help to break the ice," said Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano.

With the help of Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502, 300 stuffed bears will be available to give to the youths during the raids.

School leaders begin terms

Several school leaders recently began serving terms in two regional education organizations.

Elected as officers of the Wayne County Association of School Administrators were Roy Bassett, president, of Woodhaven; and John Whittner, vice president, Grosse Pointe. The secretary/treasurer position is vacant.

Elected as officers on the Wayne County Association of School Boards committee were James Petrie, president, of Northville; Sharon Dulmage, vice president, Dearborn; Sally Carter, secretary, Flat Rock; and Mary King, treasurer, of Romulus.

County fair in full swing

The 43rd annual Wayne County 4H Fair is in full swing at the county fairgrounds, on Quirk Road, off of the I-94 North Service Drive, in Belleville. The event continues through Saturday.

Still planned are tractor and truck pulls, "monster" truck appearances by Heartbeat and Bigfoot, musical entertainers and the Midwest All Pro Wrestling match, as well as the traditional livestock and agricultural displays and amusement rides.

Tickets are $3 per person. Pay-one-price carnival rides are $8.

Lease approved for Southwest

A lease agreement that would allow Southwest Airlines to operate from the Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, in Romulus, was approved by members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners Aug. 4.

The lease will provide a passenger service space inside of the terminal. A date has not been determined for the operation to begin.

Auto theft unit to be discussed

A grant which would provide a special unit in the Wayne County prosecutor's office to specialize in area auto thefts, arson and fraud prevention is being considered by Wayne County commissioners.

Such a unit would be useful to prosecute and deter repeat offenders, county officials said.

Alternative jail program is eyed

Wayne County officials are eyeing legislation pending at the state level which would encourage new alternatives to incarcerating people in local and state jails.

If approved, a county committee would be established to discuss how the program could be developed and implemented.

Pavement project awaits approval

Members of the Wayne County Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services are considering a bid by the firm of Peter Basile to complete a concrete paving project in Romulus, Westland and Inkster.

In the project, Middlebelt Road, from Wick Road to Michigan Avenue, will be repaved.

Four firms responded to the request of bids. Peter A. Basile—the lowest bidder—proposed a cost of $131,295.

Special Olympic games termed a local success

By CHRISTINE McCLOSKEY
ANP Special Writer

Approximately 860 athletes and 200 volunteers participated in the Michigan Special Olympics State Softball Tournament Friday and Saturday at the Canton Softball Center, on Michigan Avenue, in Canton Township.

Special Olympics is a year-round, community-based sports training and competition program for children and adults who have mental retardation.

One million special athletes from around the world participate in the Special Olympics program. In Michigan, more than 20,000 Special Olympians train and compete in a variety of team and individual sports.

The Canton tournament, hosted by members of the Wayne Civitan Club, began with opening ceremonies at 7:40 p.m. Friday.

Despite rainy weather during the early part of the afternoon Friday, athletes and coaches were preparing to play their first games of the tournament as soon as the sun peeked through the clouds late in the afternoon.

The rainy weather Friday did, however, prohibit the usual team screening process. The screening process is used to determine which teams should play each other, based on skill levels.

Softball competition was scheduled from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Special Olympics teams from across the state were present at the locally based event. Athletes stayed in the airport Hilton and Holiday Inn hotels during the weekend and participated in several other activities during their stay, such as a dance on Friday night, according to organizers.

Softball is just one of the many sports in which Special Olympians compete. Alpine skiing, aquatics, basketball, bowling, figure skating, gymnastics, nordic skiing, polo hockey, soccer, speed skating, tennis, volleyball and weightlifting are also part of the program.

This year marks the second time the softball tournament has been staged in Canton Township. Tournament coordinators said they were very impressed with the community and were happy to return.

But competitions for Special Olympians do not end at the state level.

Susie Pidsosny, area director of Special Olympics, said summer international games are staged every four years. The next international event is scheduled for 1991 in Minneapolis and St. Paul. "Rumor" has it that another future international event will be staged in Paris, France, Pidsosny said.

Teams winning gold medals at the state tournaments—such as the one staged in Canton last weekend—are entered in a drawing. Winning teams then are eligible to compete at the international tournament.

The tournament in Canton was a highlight of months of work and practice on the part of the athletes and the volunteers.

John Elliot, a coach from Livonia, brought three teams and 36 athletes from his area.

Muskegon coach Al Hichue said that members of his team have been practicing since June. Some of his athletes travel 50 miles round trip to attend practice.

Muskegon first baseman Mike Fodrocy said he enjoys softball but that the social aspect of the tournament is equally as enjoyable.

The softball pitcher for Muskegon, Lisa Miller, agreed with Fodrocy and was anxious to see the games begin.

County commissioners are optimistic about new chairman

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Local members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners expressed optimism Tuesday regarding the election of new commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell II.

Commissioners Milton Mack (D-Wayne) and Kay Beard (D-Inkster) said they are hopeful about the tenure of Blackwell, who was elected last week to succeed previous Chairman Arthur Carter.

Carter resigned Friday to accept the position of deputy superintendent in the Detroit public school system.

"It's going to work out well," Mack said. "I think with the election of Chairman Blackwell we're going to see more cooperation between the city (of Detroit) and the suburbs," Mack said.

Carter represented the first commission district, which is contained entirely in Detroit. Blackwell represents the third district, which includes Highland Park and Hamtramck, both of which are surrounded by Detroit.

Mack acknowledged that Carter was often criticized for poor relations with suburban commission members.

"We're not very successful in trying to meet each other's needs," Mack said.

But Beard, while praising Blackwell, said she was satisfied with the performance of Carter during his two-and-a-half-year term as chairman.

"Carter was much different as a chairman than I expected him to be," Beard said. "I think he really grew in the job. He became more statesmanlike."

Beard said she had a good working relationship with Carter, but expects to have one with Blackwell, also.

"I always have in the past," Beard said.

Mack said he looks forward to working with Blackwell, as commission chairman, and Commissioner Bernard Kilpatrick (D-Detroit), who serves as chairman of the Metro Caucus.

"We are seeing two people who are better able to work things on a larger scale," Mack said.

But while he looks forward to better urban/suburban relations, Mack said some of the tensions are natural.

"The needs of the city and the needs of the suburbs, when it comes to the county, are very different," Mack said.

Beard said she expects Blackwell to be a force for cooperation among all commission members.

Goals

cided to support the 2 cent increase, citing the advantages of the promised $1.6 billion in property tax relief for Michigan citizens.

"My district and myself have been clamoring for financial equity for schools for at least as long as I've been in the legislature," Kosteva said.

Because of the property-tax cut, Kosteva said, the 2 cent hike is actually less of a net tax increase.

Kosteva also plans to work—as the chairman of the House committee on colleges and universities—to strengthen the ties between the government and university research.

"We don't know enough in Lansing about what is going on at the university level, in terms of research that could be helpful to us here," Kosteva said.

He also plans to push for an increase in recycling, including possible state incentives for businesses.

"It is all well and good to collect all the newspapers, but if you don't have a place to sell them to, they're all going to go back to the landfill," Kosteva said.

Ron DeCook, an aide to state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) said Faust also plans to encourage recycling and will look for ways to provide incentives for recycling.

Other Faust priorities include removing anti-trust exemptions from insurance companies, strengthening penalties for illegal use or sale of anabolic steroids, requiring safety precautions for BB guns, streamlining the condemnation process for abandoned houses, defining the rights of handicapped people in business settings and preventing rape defendants from suing their alleged victims while their trials are ongoing.

State Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) said he will also make school-finance reform a major part of his agenda.

Law said the 2 cent increase is better for the state in general because it includes a property-tax cut. But he has not decided which proposal he will support, because he has not determined what is best for the school districts he represents—the Plymouth-Canton and Northville districts.

"It looks as though people will be kind of all over the map on it," Law said.

Law will also concern himself with the safety issues associated with toxic trains—also dubbed the Death Train—which regularly make two stops in Northville, he said.

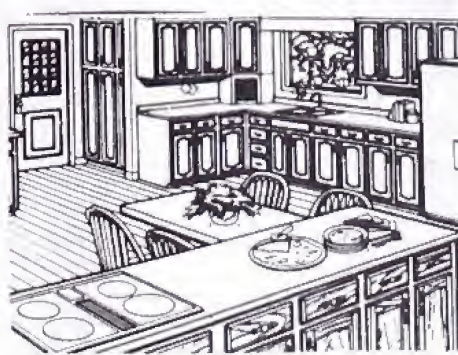

"Will the localities know in advance?" Law said. "Will they be prepared to handle a disaster?"

Law also continues to sponsor a bill that would require teens to fulfill the school attendance requirement of their school districts to be eligible for a driver's license.

The bill would be optional for school districts to enforce.

The secret ingredient is time

No matter how thin you slice it, it's still the very best dessert of all.

And, it doesn't seem to matter if the temperature outside is in the 90s or less than zero, cheesecake still gets the nod as the most widely accepted and adored of all desserts. There can be no mystery to that. Whether it's the traditional baked cheesecake or one of the lighter, no-bake variety, guests and families agree that this is one of the classics of the kitchen.

Better yet, cheesecakes are simple to make. Many an inexperienced cook has shied away from them, thinking that something this luscious just has to be difficult. If the truth be told, the only secret to the success of a cheesecake is the time it takes to bake it and then to cool it to serve. With the no-bake varieties, the setting up and cooling takes awhile.

The only other secret I can think of is making sure the ingredients are absolutely fresh. Don't take a chance on cream cheese of an off brand or anywhere near past the freshness date. The cream cheese must be perfect, as should all the rest of the ingredients. Remember, this dessert is subtle and relies totally on the mixture of flavors, one less-than-fresh egg or tinged piece of fruit will be the downfall of the creation.

Here is one of my favorites. It is, I admit, somewhat offbeat, but that's really what makes it absolutely wonderful. I do confess that this is a recipe which I steadfastly refused to give away for a number of years, despite the begging and pleading of friends and family. My sister reminded me of it last week when we were at lunch and suggested (blackmail is such an ugly word) that if I didn't use it, she would announce my real age to the world.

As is obvious, my sister knows how to get what she wants from me. I hope she gets fat.

Chicken is big business for area cook

By FLORENCE WEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The food in Pam Briganti's restaurant is not elaborate. The Belleville woman prefers to provide simple, homemade dishes that have a country-style flair.

Briganti has owned Belle's Chicken, on Sumpter Road, in Belleville, for eight years. Her start in the restaurant business, however, began 12 years ago, when she joined her ex-husband in the purchase of the Brass Bell restaurant, in Belleville.

By jumping in "head first," Briganti received a thorough education of food service, picking up where her mother had left off in the kitchen years ago.

In 1982, the site where Belle's Chicken is located became available. Unmarried, Briganti decided to grasp the opportunity and launched a business of her own.

An acquaintance who operated a chicken restaurant in Plymouth took Briganti by the hand and taught her the operation.

"He was my mentor," Briganti explained.

Today, Briganti practically lives in the restaurant, enlisting the help of her two sons, Nick, 12, and Kevin, 20.

Briganti puts special care into all of the dishes she serves to her customers. The chicken, along with her secret cole-slaw recipe, have become her calling cards.

Briganti also boasts of delicious rice pudding, baked beans, three-bean salad, barbecue sauce and chicken-noodle soup.

Most of Briganti's recipes are ideal for summer picnics and family gatherings. Catering for such events has become a large part of her business.

For a recent event staged by the Belleville Moose Lodge, Briganti supplied approximately 600 pieces of her famous chicken.

For her, however, the cooking is a natural.

"It's an instinct," she explained. Briganti strives to make her restaurant comfortable for her customers. The walls are decked with numerous poultry pictures, and stuffed calico chickens flank the front counter. The windows and tables in the restaurant are similar to those in a country kitchen.

"People come in, and they feel at home," Briganti said.

When it is time to leave, Briganti admitted, she is rarely in the mood to prepare more food. However, after all of these years, she has not tired of the chicken in her restaurant.

She still eats it three or four times each week.

Carrying her love for the business further, Briganti will be bringing her expertise to an upcoming chicken restaurant in Canton Township. This fall, she will become manager of Chicken Express, on Michigan Avenue.

When asked to share some of her favorite recipes, Briganti kept a tight lid on her secrets for chicken and cole slaw. She did agree, however, to share a few other recipes, which are ideal for summer picnics.

Local participants preparing for Renaissance Festival

When the 10th annual Michigan Renaissance Festival opens its gates on Aug. 12, several participants from western Wayne County will be "stepping back in history" to help recreate Medieval life.

Todd Hissong, of Inkster, will return for his tenth season, playing the role of the sheriff, and Robert Wazzell of Sumpter Township, "the Wood Wizard," will display his wood carvings.

Westland resident Annette Hissong will take on the role of the court matchmaker and Gary Burton, of Garden City, will portray a Medieval villager.

The event is to be staged on the wooded grounds of "Hollygrove," located on Dixie Highway, north of the Mt. Holly ski area, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. each weekend through Sept. 24.

Each weekend offers a different theme — Childhood's Quest, Days of Knights, Renaissance Romance, Fool's

Defending champs favored to win city championship golf titles

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With two of the four defending champs returning to the pack, the run for the 1989 City Championship Golf Tournament titles should be another "battle right down to the finish line."

The tournament will be staged Saturday and Sunday at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township. And with the 1988 tournament medalist - Kevin Ryan - skipping this year's competitions, the overall title also is up for grabs, according to William Hawley, tournament manager. "The defending champs obviously will have the edge when it comes to the city titles," Hawley noted. "They have shown they can win this thing. And with Ryan skipping the tournament, I believe that just about anyone can take the overall title."

Ryan won the 1987 tournament title by shooting a 148, a four over par for the par 72 course. The year before, the 27-year-old Inkster golfer captured medalist honors with a 137. The tournament, sponsored by The Associated Newspapers in cooperation with local parks and Recreation departments, determines the city championships for the cities of Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster, Garden City, and Canton Township.

With (Kevin) Ryan skipping the tournament, I believe that anyone could win it this year. It sure is going to be interesting to see who finishes on top. But I would give the defending city champs a small edge over the rest of the field.

— Bill Hawley
Tournament manager

With Ryan out of the lineup, veteran golfer Murray Brooks, along with defending city champs Mark Morton (Wayne) or Tom Singer (Romulus), who have won back-to-back city titles, could move up to the top perch. The city tournament, in its 30th year, is also used as a qualifier for the Michigan Parks and Recreation state finals. The state finals will be conducted Sept. 23 at Bender Park in Battle Creek. The top five scorers from each community are eligible to play on their city team at state. Golfers must be bona fide residents of a city that they represent in the finals. The local tournament will be staged two days: On Saturday golfers will play their first 18 holes, then return on Sunday for the championship round. Trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers in the championship flight, and additional flights will be created only if the number of entries from a city warrants it. In case of a tie for a trophy, golfers will wage a "sudden death" playoff to determine the winner. An additional trophy will be awarded the medalist (low-scorer) for the entire field. Wayne golfers will also be competing for the Patrolman Len Anderson Traveling Trophy. The trophy is a memorial to Patrolman Anderson who, in 1973, was the first Wayne officer killed in the line of duty. Hawley also noted that there are still tee times available. "We usually have 80 to 100 golfers compete in this tournament," Hawley said. "For some inexplicable reason, we have about 65. Therefore, if there are golfers who were on vacation and have returned and want to play in this, please let them contact me or the Associated Newspapers before Friday evening."

Huron loses grid coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Chiefs of New Boston Huron High have suffered a major pre-season football setback as school officials last week announced that veteran coach Tom LaBeau has resigned the head coaching duties.

LaBeau, unavailable for comment at press time, has accepted a teaching-coaching position with an area school district, according to school officials.

Dr. Gary J. Jackson, superintendent of Huron schools, said today that the school district is accepting applications to fill the coaching position.

"With the start of the football season just a few weeks away," Dr. Jackson noted, "there isn't much time. So we are looking for someone to fill the vacancy created by his (LaBeau's) resignation as soon as possible." Jackson would not speculate on why LaBeau decided to give up the coaching reins at this time. He did say, however, that the lack of football recruits "may have been one of the decisive factors in why Tom decided to leave us."

Over the past five years, the Chiefs have not had the numbers to compete in the Huron Conference, which has been dominated by such teams as Grosse Ile, Monroe Catholic Central, and Carlson.

The Chiefs won only two games a year ago, and have not fielded a winning team in the past decade.

LaBeau's departure brings the total to three veteran coaches in the area who will not be back with their respective teams for the 1989 campaign.

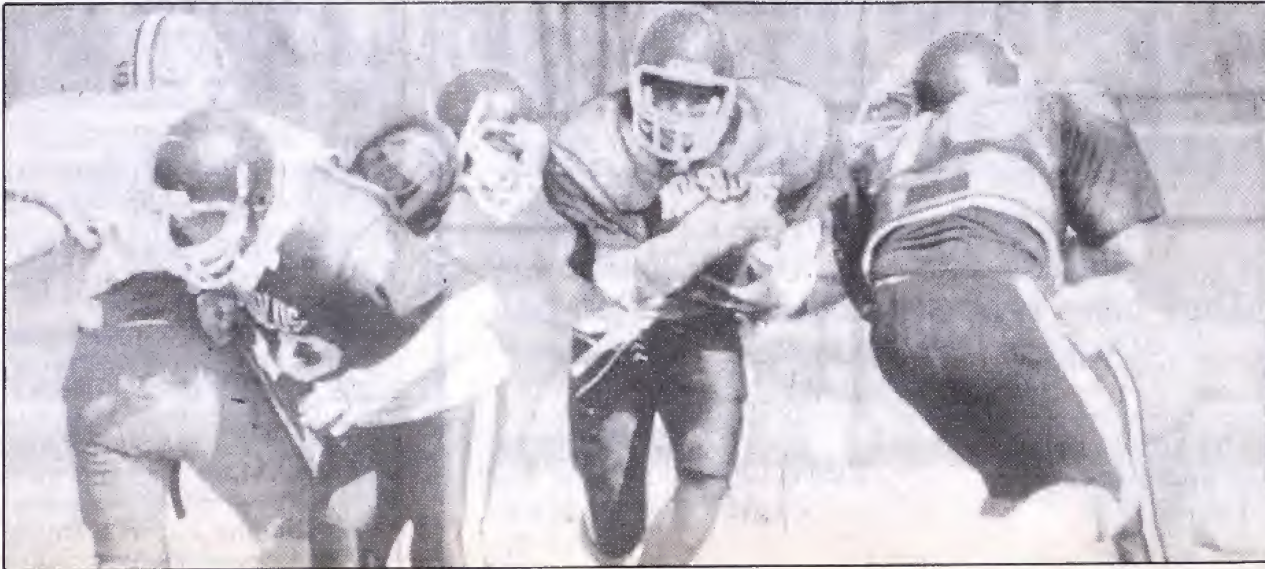

Norb Glover, who coached the Eagles of Romulus High, has stepped down and will be replaced by Dan Henry, while Alonzo Glaze, Inkster High's head football coach, has decided to give up that job.

Two veteran coaches who will be returning to their clubs are Robert Yauck, the dean of area football coaches. Yauck is entering his 19th season as head coach at Robichaud High in the Westwood School District.

In the meantime, Dave McCarney is struggling to put together a lineup at Belleville High where athletes must come up with $250 each in order to cover costs for athletic programs.

Last month, the Van Buren School District board of education, faced with a budget crisis, has agreed to adopt a pay to play policy. In order to play varsity sports, athletes are asked to pay $250 apiece.

Football preview

With new football coaches at the helm of at least three of the area high school teams and scores of former junior high grid stars seeking recognition on varsity teams, prep grid fans probably will probably need more than programs to identify their favorite teams and the changes that have been made during the off-season. To help fans, the ANP sports staff is putting together its annual Prep Football Preview, highlighting the new coaching changes, the hopes and dreams of coaches and players, 1989 schedules and many more pertinent and not to pertinent facts. The Special Preview will be published the week of Aug. 27, so don't miss it. Local advertisers also should not miss out on an opportunity to reach a market that reaches Belleville, Van Buren and Canton Townships, and the cities of Wayne, Westland, Romulus and Inkster. Sprinter invited to national meet

A young Inkster athlete has been selected to represent Michigan at the prestigious national Hershey (Pa.) Track & Field Invitational. Charnell Lynn, who will turn 12 on Aug. 11, is one of seven youngsters from Michigan who will compete for the North Central Regional Team at the National Final of Hershey's National Track & Field Youth Program.

The invitational will be staged on Aug. 11 at Henry Hershey's Field, Milton Hershey's School in Pennsylvania.

Charnell was selected for the Regional Team after winning the girls, age 11-12, 200-meter dash at the Michigan State finals, staged recently in Howell, MI. Her winning time was 28.53 seconds. An outstanding performance for a 11-year-old, officials noted.

Charnell will join 59 other 9 to 14 year old boys and girls on the North Central Regional Team. Nearly 500 boys and girls from eight regional teams will participate in the national final.

The Hershey's program has reached several million youngsters from all 50 states and the District of Columbia. It is sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, and it is solely funded by Hershey's Foods Corporation.

The program is designed to encourage physical fitness among youth and emphasizes participation and sportsmanship.

Inkster boasts one other individual event winner at the Great Lakes Regional Championships. Irene Willis, who competed in the 13-14 age group, captured a gold medal in the softball throw.

The city also came away with gold medals in the 400-meter relay for boys, ages 11-12, thanks to the performances of Kemoni Bozeman, Billy Bozeman, Maurice Ballard and Charles Purvis; in the 400-meter relay for boys, ages 13-14, behind the efforts of Freddie Taylor, Greg Prewitt, Steven Williams, and Marcus Harris.

Milik Hood, Darryl Lockhart, Yashron Willis, and Andre Baker captured a gold in the 400-meter relay for boys, ages 9-10.

Inkster athletes also won several bronze and silver medals. The athletes competed in the dashes, relays, long jump and softball throw events.

Attention, city golfers

If you have signed up for and did not find your name among those who are teeing off for the 1989 City Championship Golf Tournament, please contact the Sports Desk (729-4000) at the Associated Newspapers.

William Hawley, tournament manager, said that there may be golfers who mailed in their entry blanks too late for their names to be included in the Thursday publication of your local newspaper.

Tee times for the second or championship round of the tournament will be made available Saturday evening. Golfers who card the best scores in the preliminary round will receive the early tee times for Sunday, Hawley noted.

Fellows Creek remains challenge

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

The winner of the Associated Newspapers City Championship Golf Tournament might not be the longest hitter. In fact, success can be found at Fellows Creek Golf Course by leaving the woods in the bag.

The newspaper golf tournament will be staged Saturday and Sunday at the Fellows Creek Golf Course, on Lotz Road, in Canton Township.

"There are a number of holes where it's very important to place your shot off the tee," said Fellows Creek professional Dennis Chall. "Right now, the course is in extremely good shape. The greens are firm, and the course may play a little shorter than usual if we don't get anymore rain."

Chall, who is also head golf coach at Wayne Memorial High School, said each side at Fellows Creek has unique characteristics.

Chall offered golfers competing in the weekend tournament the following bits of advice:

• THE WEST SIDE is what Chall describes as a shot-makers' course.

"You have to put the ball in key positions on the west side," he said. "It is the most difficult side for me. It's not a bad idea to use an iron off the tee. The greens are the least-developed and are often tricky."

The most difficult holes,

Chall said, are numbers 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9.

"The par-3 fourth hole is the one you can see from the expressway. That pond takes a lot of balls," Chall said. "After that hole, there are three holes in a row that are lined with woods and you have to place the ball well."

• THE SOUTH SIDE is considered to be the easiest of the three, according to Chall.

"I would say the par-3's and par-5's are the keys to the south side," Chall said. "The par-3 fifth hole is only 125 to 130 yards, but you have water and two bunkers in front, so you have to place it well. The par-3 ninth hole is a long par-3 (203 yards), and it's a difficult hole."

Chall also lists the fourth and seventh holes as keys to success on the south side.

• THE EAST SIDE is the water side, according to Chall.

"Water can come into play on several holes on the east side," Chall said. "You have to score on the first three holes because the next four are very difficult. A par or even a bogey on 4, 5, 6 and 7 would be good scores."

"The greens are also quicker on the east."

A 73 or 74 would be considered an outstanding round of golf on any of the courses at Fellows Creek, Chall explained.

The board is also planning to return, for a third time, a millage proposal to help raise the necessary funds to keep the schools in operation.

No date has been set for the millage vote, but speculation is that the board will probably place the proposal on the ballot after the general election in November.

"Hershey has extended an invitation to Charnell to compete in the national's," said Ron Wolkowicz, recreation director for the city of Inkster, "and plans are underway to make preparation for her to compete."

Lynn was among 50 Inkster athletes, ages 9 through 14, who competed in the qualifying meet in Howell. The Michigan Meet drew participants from across the state to vie for honors in the dashes, relays and softball throw events.

Winners in Michigan may qualify as representatives of the Great Lakes Region for the national championships.

Inkster also had one other individual event winner in Irene Willis, who won the softball.

The city also boasts the best boys 100-meter relay team in Kemoni and Billy Bozeman, Maurice Ballard and Charles Purvis.

'HOME SWEET HOME'

Apartment living is made personal with decorating

By CHRISTINE McCLOSKEY

Apartment dwellers often try to create a "home sweet home" of their own - even though they are renters. Decorating and making the dwelling space comfortable is encouraged, most apartment managers would agree.

When decorating, however, there are some basic guidelines to follow, so as not to encourage the wrath of the management.

Area apartment managers report that one of the biggest problems they encounter is the use of wallpaper by tenants. Wallpapers that require heavy pastes, for instance, tend to strip paint and can even damage dry wall.

Apartment officials recommend the use of wallpapers that are easy to remove, such as fabric-backed wallpaper. An even more innovative idea is to use wallpaper sparingly - perhaps as a border instead of a complete wall cover.

Before hanging the paper, however, be sure to check the lease agreement to be sure the paper is permitted.

Other decorating tips provided include:

- The use of contact paper in place of wallpaper is not recommended, apartment officials said, because, like some wallpapers, it can damage the drywall.

- Sticking to the subject of walls, most apartment managers agree that painting is OK. But tenants should use pastel colors so that the walls can be more easily restored to the usual white color upon termination of the lease.

Also, flat paints are more desirable, because they are easier to repaint.

- When discussing wall hangings, apartment officials believe less weighty is better. It is also better to use regular wall hooks rather than carpenter nails. Surprisingly, the wall hooks can support more weight than ordinary nails.

- Adhesives and gummy subst-

Apartment officials recommend the use of wallpapers that are easy to remove, such as fabric-backed wallpaper. An even more innovative idea is to use wallpaper sparingly - perhaps as a border . . .

ances should not be used to hang things. They too can damage dry-wall. A small nail will more sturdily support a wall hanging and do less damage, according to apartment managers.

- Ceiling fans generally add to the beauty and comfort of the apartment, but care should be taken upon installation. Many apartment managers will compensate the tenant if he/she decides to leave the fan upon termination of the lease. Others will not.

Removal of ceiling fans is a tricky task - it is very difficult to accomplish without damaging the ceiling or fixture.

- Decorative rugs are quite harmless, and free-standing personal items can tastefully enhance the beauty of any apartment.

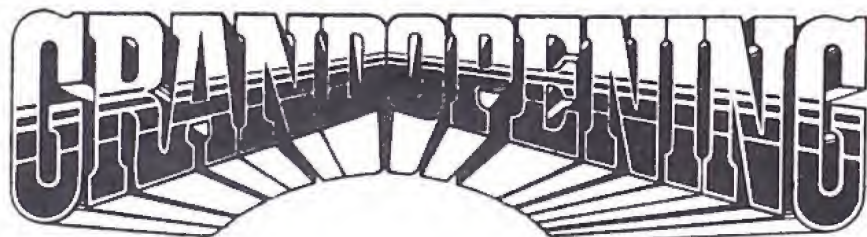

Most leases explain guidelines for decorating, and apartment managers can answer specific questions.

However, a basic guideline to follow when decorating is to leave the apartment as it was upon moving in.

Don't forget about container gardening

About this section . . .

This is Today, the special advertising supplement to the six Associated Newspapers publications.

Today editions are themed to a specialized topic of interest to area consumers and retailers. A list of future Today topics is available from Natalie Kozorosky, ANP special sections manager.

This edition of Today is targeted to apartment living and the expanding dominance of apartments in western Wayne County. Last year, the number of multi-family dwelling places (apartments) built in the city of Westland made it the number-one community in metro Detroit for new multi-family residential construction, according to government reports.

Inside this edition, we look at how to make your very own "home sweet apartment" with the help of personal decorating, and we take a glimpse at some of the retailers catering to apartments dwellers and brief profiles of some apartment complexes.

Apartment life doesn't mean an end to gardening for Lola Roberts (above), a 10-year resident at Waynewood Apartments. She — and several of her neighbors — grow an entire patio of flowers each year. ANP photos by Werner Slocum/staff photographer standing sentinel in the warm summer breeze.

How about a cool carpet of pink-toned impatiens adding a sea of life to that cold, cement ground?

The possibilities continue with overflowing hanging baskets of begonias and even exotic cactuses.

To some, apartment living is great because there is no yardwork. For other apartment dwellers who enjoy working with the soil, not having a yard to tend may be considered a drawback.

Apartment living need not be garden-free. Patio and balcony gardens are the perfect alternative to a backyard garden.

One bonus of these small gardens is that, although care is needed, the gardens are not extremely time-consuming.

This year, at Waynewood Apartments in Westland, it appears as though tenants are having a contest to see who has the most beautiful patio garden.

Apartment Manager Shirley Kennedy said that tenants are being very creative this year, using wooden barrels filled with flowers, hanging baskets, spikes, potted flowers. Some tenants are even growing vegetables.

Tenants at Woodcrest Villa, in Westland, have also done a lot of patio gardening this year, according to Manager Todd Moomaw. Some tenants on the first floor have built small fences around their annuals, because the swans from the nearby pond enjoy eating the buds. ■

Area apartment managers encourage personalizing of apartments, to create a more "home sweet home" atmosphere. Some of these personalizing techniques include the addition of wallpaper and new light fixtures, such as in this Waynewood Apartments unit (above). However, managers warn, be sure to know the rules before beginning to decorate and be certain that you will be able to remove wallpaper and other added fixtures on move-out day.
